

The New York State Seal of Bilingualism (NYSSB) recognizes students from district, charter, and non-public schools who have attained

(one of which must be English) by high school graduation. It acknowledges the importance of bilingualism in today's global society.

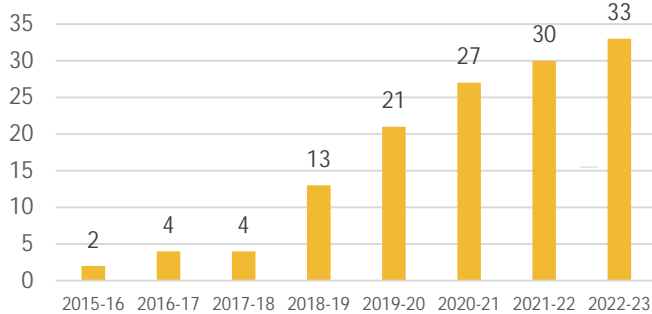

The intent of the NYSSB is to:

- affirm the value of diversity in a multilingual society;
- encourage the study of languages;
- identify high school graduates with multilingualism and multiliteracy skills for employers;
- provide universities with additional information about applicants seeking admission;
- prepare students with twenty-first century skills; and
- recognize the value of world and home language instruction in schools.
